

Analysis:

What is the system suppose to do?

- Be able to start on a computer with out external support
- Work with data that comes from users or other systems
- The data must have a structure that makes it easy to find for the system
- The data must be saved in a secure matter and communication with data requires security
- Add new data, change current data and remove old data.
- Run without interruptions and be able to run different job at the "same" time, these job can have different rights and priority
- Be able to handle users that has different rights
- Be able to handle data and resources that have different rights
- Receive data from hardware and send data to hardware (all hardware in market)
- Coordinate resources and use resources in a efficient matter
- Samordna resurser och undvika att slösa på resurser.